

- Men talking over women
- Men's comments being valued over women's comments
- Men not sharing information with women
- Men primarily being approached for ideas, info, direction, approval, etc.
- Men adopting and taking credit for ideas originally put forward by women
- Men doing a disproportionate share of the public work
 - Men not doing their share of non-public, less credited work such as cleaning, cooking, washing dishes, data entry, childcare, etc.
 - Men not taking sexism seriously and viewing themselves and other male activists as above sexism